DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on July 9, 2004 has been considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Farcella et al. Farcella et al teaches an optical system comprising an optical element (Figure 2, element 5), a reflecting reference surface (Figure 2, elements 16 and 8) for adjusting the optical element and connected to the optical element as claimed in independent claim 1 and further comprising a body for holding the optical element (Figure 3, element 24) as claimed in dependent claim 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 5 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farcella et al. Although Farcella et al fails to specifically teach the reference surface being perpendicular to the optical axis as claimed in dependent claims 3 and 5, the projection system as claimed in dependent claims 7 and 8, nor the imaging method as claimed in dependent claim 9, Farcella et al does illustrate a reference surface (Figure 2, element 16) lying in a plane perpendicular to the optical axis (Figure 1, element 40) in such a manner that it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that the reference plane was orthogonal to the optical axis. Farcella et al also teaches the well-known optical element assembly may be used in a variety of optical systems (column 1, lines 6-10). Hence, the broadly recited instant invention is not patentably distinguishable over the well-known optical system of Farcella et al and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the optical element assembly of Farcella et al for the purpose of controlling the spacing and/or orientation of the optical element within a given optical system in an effort to increase performance.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 9, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Farcella et al does not "disclose or suggest ... a reference for adjusting an optical element" nor does it "disclose or suggest a reflecting surface that is connected to and used to adjust and optical element". The examiner would like to reference Figures 1-3 of Farcella et al where, at a minimum, an optical element having a reflective surface for adjusting the optical element is suggested as outline in the rejection above. The broad recitation of the claims as presented read on the invention of Farcella et al such that a rejection of the instant invention is warranted and proper.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
